Newsletter - Late January 2007

A quick printed update on Guild Players activities.

We held read throughs on the 17th & 24th January in preparation for our Easter and Spring productions. It was great to see a number of new faces along with many old friends over the two evenings. From the names put on the list, Helen & Dave are now considering the most appropriate casting of the two productions.

We now commence regular rehearsals on Mondays & Wednesdays at 8.00 with the productions using different parts of the premises.

Hopefully all those who read over the last two weeks will be with us on Monday 29th January when we can attempt to hammer out the casting with a final read through. With 17 acting parts across the two productions, there may need to be some juggling! Additionally we also need backstage teams.

Communications

We now use email as our primary method of communicating with members & friends of the Guild Players. Printed newsletters take time (and money) to send out, however we will try to do them occasionally.

If you have not received any emails from us recently please check that they have not been eaten by a spam filter or ended up in a junk folder! (Our emails normally come from updates@guildplayers.org.uk or info@guildplayers.org.uk - why not add them to your address book or whitelist). Email addresses that repeatedly reject or bounce mail are deleted from our mailing list.

You can let us know about any changes to any of your contact details by using the online form at www.guildplayers.org.uk/mydetails
